Product information

Underwater gardener Aquascaping is the term used to describe the technique of designing aquarium landscapes. This is the place for plant compositions, for the reproduction of a landscape above water or for natural biotopes. An aquascaping aquarium contains no or few fish and invertebrates.

The slender, straight pincers are very well suited for the insertion of plants, which need to be put deeply into the substrate. The slender pincers are more suitable than scissors to rake the rock wool out of the In-Vitro plant with long roots.
